Dhananjoy Kumbhakar lives in the Layekbandh village of Bankura district with his parents and brother. He secured 92.6% marks in the Higher Secondary Examination in 2017. They can barely make ends meet. His father hawks fried food items by travelling across villages and at times even collects fallen leaves from forest to sell them in the market. This is their only source of income. It is by overcoming such adversity that Dhananjoy has taken admission to the four-year B.Tech course in Information Technology in the University of Calcutta. Srijan Sujana has been with him from the beginning and promises to extend all assistance for his pursuit of higher education.
